he would commit suicide. The man behind the bar, after looking the fellow over, asked him if he had a revolver, and on being told no, inquired if he had the price of some poison, or if he had got a piece of rope, but the fellow had none of these. "Well," said he, "if I were you and intended to die, I think the best way to do it would be to go down the street here and jump off the dock. The water may be cold, but you will only feel it for a few minutes, and then it will be all over."

The stranger said he would take this advice, shook hands with the barkeeper called him back and asked:

"Say, are you going to commit suicide on the level?"

"Certainly:

"Certainly:

"Well, there's a poor fellow sitting over there who has no coat on his back, and if you are going to die, it won't make any difference to you if you only walk a block, and he needs it, heaven knows."

The fellow bolted for the door and ran from the place as fast as his legs would carry him.

face is in absolute repose, and not only serious, but solemn—well. It's enough to startle a timil person. It's the most solemn human countenance you ever saw. He probably found that out long ago and that s why he wears the smile that doesn't come off. He is entitled to wear it."

Wire-Saving Apparatus.

The system of simultaneous telegraphing and telephoning on the same wires, by the apparatus invented by Signori Turchi and Brune, which has been in operation for several months on a section of line from Bologna, has proved a thoroughly practical success, according to the London Globe, and the Italian Government contemplates installation of the system on other sections. The two inventors are new in Rome negotiating with the minister of posts and telegraphs the details for a working agreement, which will probably ultimately cover the whole country. ### WAR OR NO WAR, JAPS WILL EXHIRIT

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ST. LOUIS, MO., Feb. 10.—Nanjime Ota,
Japanese commissioner to the Louislana
Purchase Exposition, received a cablegram from the president of the Japanese Commission, Baron Klyoura, to-day, which stated that although poaceful relations between Japan and Russia were broken, the war would make no difference with the exhibits of Japan at the World's Fair.

Baron Klyoura is the Minister of Com-merce and Agriculture of Japan.

N. Kanzaki, acting commissioner, said of the torpede boat attack at Port Arthur:
"It makes no difference whether it is victory or defeat." he said; "the Japanese will never give up. They will fight always to the end. We are a peculiar people, in that a victory encourages us much, while a defeat encourages us still more."

climate,

As a playwright and an actor we class him at the top.

He used to be a newspaper man and knows the ups and downs of the business, and as such is a student of human nature, and as such a student puts his studies in his plays.

We have seen him in "The Man Who Dared." and we want to see him in his remarkable new piece, the plot of which he has disclosed to us, which he is now writing, and which he must finish by February 20th.

It's a wonderful plece of imagery, with plenty of facts thrown in, and we suggest that theatre-goers get ready to look it over when it comes here.
